

Call for Papers – Ninth Annual SERI Workshop

Workshop date: 8-9 July 2023

The Society for Economics Research in India (SERI) will be organizing its 9th annual workshop on 8-9 July 2023 at the Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics (GIPE). The workshop is planned as an in-person meeting in Pune. There is no registration fee and GIPE will cover the travel and accommodation of presenting authors.

SERI's annual workshop is a platform for economists in India to present and get feedback on their research, with the aim of preparing the papers for submission to leading economic journals. The workshop's format allows for greater engagement than is possible in typical conferences: there will be a small number of papers selected and longer time slots to allow for detailed exposition and discussion. Programs of past workshops are available at <https://seri.network/conferences/>

For your paper to be considered for the meeting, you must be an economist based in India. Submissions of both empirical and theoretical research, across all fields of economics, are welcome. We particularly encourage junior faculty and women to submit their work for consideration. Each individual should only submit one paper to the workshop but a person may be a co-author on multiple papers.
